Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments:

Discussed the claimed invention in light of the exemplary claim 1, which has been rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over AAPA in view of Park et al. In particular, the Applicants' representative argues that Park does not teach the use of a claimed subject matter "bus grant indication" because the CPU/Cache bus is a dedicated bus. However, the Examiner pointed out that the CPU/Cache bus is not a dedicated bus, but a regular shared bus because the CPU/Cache bus is clearly shared by a plurality of components, i.e., Cache, CPU, etc. in Fig. 3 of Park reference. Furthermore, the claimed subject matter "bus grant indication" is clearly taught by the primary reference AAPA, and the combination of AAPA and Park with rationale for the proper combination suggests the obviousness of the claimed invention.

The Applicants' representative discussed about a possible amendment to overcome the Park reference. However, the Examiner suggests a review of Japanese Honda Keiji reference, which has neither made of record nor relied upon the claim rejection, because it might show that the key arguing element, i.e., bypassing buffering with a bus grant indication, was known at the time the invention was made.

The Applicants' representative requests the copy of the Honda Keiji reference, and the Examiner sends a copy of the original reference with a machine translated version via FAX on 17th of May 2007.
